

i saw the commerical they are treat us so badly AT&T is so much liars i saw to good do not approve this merger they don't believe Antitrust Laws they want take 4th carrier and then we will not have choice listen believe us and T-Mobile they got 4G in our area i got the statement Today, T-Mobile operates America's largest 4G network and delivers a compelling 4G experience across a broad lineup of leading devices in more places than competing 4G services.

Speed:

?By doubling the speed of its 4G network in markets across the country, T-Mobile customers will have access to the fastest 4G speeds available from T-Mobile.

?T-Mobile has seen average download speeds approaching 10Mbps with peak speeds of 27 Mbps on the T-Mobile Rocket 3.0 laptop stick ? the company?s first 42Mbps device.

?T-Mobile?s increased network speed capabilities will benefit its customers using 3G and 4G devices for data services, as the backward compatible network pushes the limits of 3G and 4G devices to achieve maximum speed performance.

?T-Mobile?s HSPA+ 4G network is poised to continue its aggressive evolutionary path to deliver speeds on par with LTE.

Breadth:

?In 2011, T-Mobile will increased 4G network speeds to 150 million Americans by mid-year.

?Currently, increased 4G speeds (HSPA+ 42) are available in 96 markets across the United States including:
